

Ronny Fossoy
of Avery Dennison Paxar said:

I have just completed the training screen printing course. And I am impressed just like I should have made it my self 😊 -- and how did I perform?? Due to time and score?

I am working in Paxar www.paxar.com and I am in charge of training people for screen printing heat transfer. We have on a regular basis training course in Norway with people from all over the world. And I have an idea we may be able use this course as a part of the 10 day training that we have in Norway.

I know the Norwegian screen printing association work together with you (fespa) to translate this into one of the Scandinavian language – do you know where that project is now?

And I wonder is there a possibility to cooperate with you to make this (or similar) into a internal course for Paxar, Paxar Heat Transfer Training Course?

And if I come to UK in close future, is there a possibility to meet you and your staff, would be interesting to meet the people who have made this course, and since I am dedicated to screen printing – fascinated by seeing people learn – I really think some kind of cooperation could be interesting.

Dynamic Regards

Ronny Fossøy
Technical Manager Screen Printing
License Team Avery Dennison Paxar NTP